

What Does Your Favourite Colour Reveal About You?

Colours are not only beautiful to the eye but exert considerable influence on a person's actions. They can lift us up or take us down with the same ease. Laughter and sorrow are both expressed with colours.

Sight is one of the most used and taken for granted of the senses. It is enhanced by colour. Without colour, sight would be less enjoyable, almost boring in fact.

People's preference in colours give us information about their personality. Changes occurring in your life will find you preferring different colours just as wearing the same colour each day would become boring. As you grow older, you find you like different colours.

Find your favourite colour and see if the personality traits resemble you in some form now. When your colour taste changes, then check again to see if you are reforming your personality.

RED

- ★ You have incredible will-power and you are capable of overcoming obstacles that would stop others.
- ★ You enjoy a pleasant and colourful environment.
- ★ You are capable of bursts of high energy spontaneity, though generally more "laid back".
- ★ You are energetic and interested in many areas of life.
- ★ You are capable of accomplishment when consciously focused and persistent.

GREEN

- ★ Green is the colour of healing. You are very strong-willed and determined and can accomplish much when left alone and undisturbed.
- ★ Easy-going and original, you are capable of relaxing and enjoying the finer things in life. Green personalities make others feel at home in their house by putting them at ease immediately. They try to take care of others with all the care their mothers gave them.
- ★ You have an eye for art.
- ★ You work hard to improve your life and to surmount the tensions involved in the struggle. In order for a green personality to feel good about themselves, they have to be helping someone or something. Nurturers by choice, they are the ones who take care of animals, humans and plants. Green personalities need to be careful not to make martyrs of themselves. This is something they easily can do.

BLACK

- ★ You demand a calm environment, free of conflict and disagreement. Black is one of the most beautiful of colours and yet is the void of colour too. It is the colour of detail.
- ★ You prefer natural to artificial.
- ★ You are capable of being comfortable in conditions that would bother others. These personalities need leaders, though, to tell them what needs to be done. Under guidance, they are able to get to the crux of the matter and solve very large problems.
- ★ This colour is one of holding things inside. When one wears black, they do not want to be touched. Putting a barrier between themselves and others is the purpose of this colour.
- ★ Keeping their strength inside so that they can better protect their emotions is the effectiveness of this colour. Although they want to be part of the world around them, they want no one to tug at their sensitivity.
- ★ You are not easily disconcerted.
- ★ Black is a relief colour for most people, like "Mum's apple pie". It makes them feel comfortable and even, in some cases, makes them feel smaller, allowing them to hide from the sometimes cruel world.
- ★ You enjoy attention, but are unsure of how to handle it. Just treat others as you'd like to be treated. It works!

GREY

- ★ You enjoy a calm environment. You are easy-going and original, and will try anything once.
- ★ Gentle, relaxed, and self-assured, you are capable of being everyone's friend.
- ★ You have an eye for the aesthetic and you work well with others.
- ★ Although outwardly appearing self-possessed, you are constantly reappraising your own situation.

BLUE

- ★ You enjoy a peaceful environment in which to relax and appreciate life.
- ★ You have a refined sense of beauty.
- ★ Pale shades of blue show someone who wants everything in order. Their closet is immaculate. They know where any piece of clothing is and most likely how long it will take them to get it out of the closet.
- ★ As blue moves to the deeper end of colour, it becomes more moody and shows it. With royal blue, one can be on a high or in the deepest of wells. This colour would probably be worn by one who is deciding to parachute because it would mean one needed to make a quick decision. When looking back on that decision though, the person pulling the ripcord would not be so sure they made the correct decision.
- ★ The navy colours are very emotional but also want to hide it. It's almost as if they are wallowing in the fact that they are emotional. Some women, with a navy personality, go on cleaning binges, others go shopping.

- ★ You are capable of persisting against all odds when determined to reach a goal.
- ★ You are intent on establishing a personal attitudinal framework within which to accomplish your goals. If your house has too much blue in it, you may find yourself depressed most of the time. Blue is a good colour but it needs other shades to balance it.

PURPLE

- ★ Purple is the colour of spirituality. Purple personalities are always striving to be better than they consider themselves to be, both on a spiritual, emotional and a mental plane. You are very spontaneous; you have a quick and original mind that knows no boundaries.
- ★ You are comparatively conservative and appreciate beautiful surroundings, especially in nature.
- ★ You are relaxed and self-assured. You work well with others.
- ★ You are a unique individual, and have unusual tastes, but you're quite comfortable among more conservative peers. Purple personalities make good friends because they always give first of themselves. Generally they do not ask much for themselves.

BROWN

- ★ You are natural and easy-going, you prefer a calm environment.
- ★ You are attracted to the outdoors. You have a refined sense of beauty.
- ★ You have a rather conservative and well-ordered mind, you are not attracted to the bizarre.
- ★ You are comfortable with your current value system, you are not entertained by fads or styles.

YELLOW

- ★ You are an original and powerful thinker, capable of overcoming great obstacles.
- ★ You are easy-going and enjoy the finer things in life.
- ★ You have an eye for art.
- ★ You are calm and relaxed and you try not to "rock the boat".
- ★ Searching for new ideas, methods and styles, you can be very productive when focused on a course of action.

PINK

- ★ Pink is the colour of peace.
- ★ People who love the colour pink usually are either in a blissful state or looking for one. They want to draw the little smiley faces on everything. The perpetual smile on pink personality faces can grow thin when you are not in the same blissful state they are. Truly loving everyone, they try to see the best in others. If they don't find something good in a person, there has to be a very good explanation in the pink personalities mind as to why not.
- ★ Those who have this personality quietly study the best way to approach problems and then act on their thoughts. Because they tend to research ideas this way, they may be seen as slow but they are anything but slow.
- ★ Pinks are youthful looking and usually have translucent skin. They see the world through rose coloured glasses. The truth of the matter is that it might be nice if we could all put those glasses on now and then.
- ★ They are shy, very intelligent, hard working people who wish they were more a part of the mainstream but are frightened of moving too quickly.
- ★ Pink personalities watch what they do or say because they are afraid that others may see them in a harsh light. They try to make everyone happy.
- ★ Others notice their wonderful senses of humour, though the pink personality may not laugh aloud. Some may even say they have a dry sense of humour.

ORANGE

- ★ Orange is the colour of nature.
- ★ Orange people are nature lovers. Being sports minded, they love to do anything having to do with the out of doors. Taking long walks in the woods revives them. When forced to stay indoors for long periods of time, they may become ill.
- ★ Trees and animals mean a lot to them. They want to be a part of nature and are, just by the very fact that they are alive.
- ★ Good professions for orange personalities include farmers, ranchers, football players, and guides.

- ★ Oranges never meet a stranger. Their outgoing attitudes make them good friends. People always say good things about these down to earth people. Although they may sometimes invoke anger from others, it usually doesn't last very long. Who can remain mad at someone so helpful?
- ★ They are good lovers and can be kinky where sex is concerned. Orange personalities do not consider themselves kinky, just willing to try what their partner may like.
- ★ Tending to take up for the underdog, they will put themselves out to help someone who they feel needs assistance.
- ★ Orange personalities are loud. They talk a lot and know enough to be dangerous about most subjects.
- ★ In most cases they are the nicest people you have ever met but don't dare try to push one. If you do you will be sorry. Feeling as if you have a tiger by the tail, you are not sure whether to drop the tail or continue running in circles trying to stay away from it's teeth.
- ★ Always aware of their surrounding, they tend to be more adventurous than most.
- ★ Even though they are impulsive and thoughtful, they generally are very much aware of what they are doing.
- ★ Learning and remembering through experience is a strong suit of theirs.
- ★ Orange personalities believe that someone out there meant for them to have any good thing in life they want. As luck has it, they get it.

WHITE

- ★ White is the colour of purity. The colour of new snow or light from above. What we fail to see is that snow and light has impurities in it but looks as if it is the most pure of all sights.
- ★ This personality sees themselves as very special because of this colour, sort of above it all. Watching others with interest, they blend in with their surroundings.
- ★ Shyness comes with this colour but it is not a true shyness. Waiting patiently for others to notice them before they make their thoughts known, they tend to appear shy but in truth, they are very outspoken.
- ★ Virginal attitudes abound with these people. They feel pure no matter what they do. The virtue of purity is attributed to them by others as well, whether they deserve this characteristic or not.
- ★ With sober sight, they tend to look others over with a very critical eye. Even while this is happening the person they are appraising does not feel they are being criticised but analysed instead. If they win the approval of the white personality, these analysed people act as if they have just won the lottery.
- ★ White personalities feel they are right in their belief structures although they are not sure they want to discuss those beliefs with others. The fact that they know they are right is enough for them. It is not uncommon, however, to notice a slight smile cross a white personality's face, when another acknowledges their belief is correct.
- ★ Self-importance is a part of their personality but does not interfere with their higher motives unless they are a negative white personality.
